Fleming College is located in the heart of the Kawarthas, with two campuses in the cities of Peterborough and Lindsay, Ontario. Fleming has approximately 6,800 full-time students. With 200 acres of park-like green space, campuses feature state-of-the-art learning and teaching facilities and six on-campus student residence buildings.

Fleming College offers students top programs in business, community development, sustainability, trades, and technology. Fleming College offers a unique student experience, characterized by personalized attention, small class sizes, and a tight-knit community, with opportunities to connect one-on-one with faculty and classmates.

Fleming College focuses on providing diploma and postgraduate level programs that are based on practice and hands-on learning. Many programs offer students practical work experiences, including internships, field placements, co-op, and applied projects.

Why Fleming College? Fleming has an international student community of more than 2,000 on campus. Students will engage in hands-on learning, working closely with faculty and staff. Student will gain career and life skills and many opportunities they can apply in the real-world. Fleming is ranked as one of Canada's Top 50 Research Colleges.

Student will become part of a close-knit, typically Canadian community where people know you by name, and where life-long friendships are formed. Students will get to know their classmates, have more time on equipment, and be able to interact with their teachers.

Students will leave with the knowledge, skills and values for career and personal success. 95.7% of employers were satisfied or very satisfied with graduates' preparation for the workplace. Students will also have the experience and credentials to pursue more advanced studies.
